A photograph of a woman and a young child praying. The woman is in the foreground, wearing a black sleeveless top, with her hands clasped in prayer. SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
LITURGY OF THE WORD

READING I — IS 62:1-5

For Zion's sake I will not be silent, for Jerusalem's sake I will not be quiet, until her vindication shines forth like the dawn and her victory like a burning torch.

Nations shall behold your vindication, and all the kings your glory; you shall be called by a new name pronounced by the mouth of the LORD. You shall be a glorious crown in the hand of the LORD, a royal diadem held by your God. No more shall people call you "Forsaken," or your land "Desolate," but you shall be called "My Delight," and your land "Espoused." For the LORD delights in you and makes your land his spouse. As a young man marries a virgin, your Builder shall marry you; and as a bridegroom rejoices in his bride so shall your God rejoice in you.

PSALM 96: Proclaim to All the Nations #54

READING II — 1 COR 12:4-11

Brothers and sisters:

There are different kinds of spiritual gifts but the same Spirit; there are different forms of service but the same Lord; there are different workings but the same God who produces all of them in everyone. To each individual the manifestation of the Spirit is given for some benefit. To one is given through the Spirit the expression of wisdom; to another, the expression of knowledge according to the same Spirit; to another, faith by the same Spirit; to another, gifts of healing by the one Spirit; to another, mighty deeds; to another, prophecy; to another, discernment of spirits; to another, varieties of tongues; to another, interpretation of tongues. But one and the same Spirit produces all of these, distributing them individually to each person as he wishes.

MASS INTENTIONS: Daily Mass Intentions are available for parishioners who would like their intentions to be remembered at Mass. Intentions are available for those who have died or for someone who is living. Stop by the Parish Office or call us to obtain a date and time.

GOSPEL — JN 2:1-11

There was a wedding at Cana in Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there. Jesus and his disciples were also invited to the wedding. When the wine ran short, the mother of Jesus said to him, "They have no wine." And Jesus said to her, "Woman, how does your concern affect me? My hour has not yet come." His mother said to the servers, "Do whatever he tells you." Now there were six stone water jars there for Jewish ceremonial washings, each holding twenty to thirty gallons. Jesus told the them, "Fill the jars with water." So they filled them to the brim. Then he told them, "Draw some out now and take it to the headwaiter." So they took it. And when the headwaiter tasted the water that had become wine, without knowing where it came from— although the servers who had drawn the water knew —, the headwaiter called the bridegroom and said to him, "Everyone serves good wine first, and then when people have drunk freely, an inferior one; but you have kept the good wine until now." Jesus did this as the beginning of his signs at Cana in Galilee and so revealed his glory, and his disciples began to believe in him.

JESUS LET HIS GLORY BE SEEN AND HIS DISCIPLES BELIEVED IN HIM.

Weddings are joyous occasions which express our desire for a full and happy life. The image of a wedding is frequently used throughout the Old Testament to describe God's relationship with his chosen – Israel. Though often unfaithful, God always took her back, forgave her and turned her sadness into joy. As she awaited the coming of the Messiah, Israel's hopes were expressed in terms of a wedding – a time of great rejoicing and celebration. Like abundant wine, God's blessings would be poured out on his people in full measure.

As we hear the account of the miracle at Cana, it is hard not to notice the shadow of the cross. Like all of Jesus' signs and miracles, this points to the greatest of all his signs: when he will be lifted up in obedience to the Father, for the salvation of humanity. This will be how the new covenant-marriage between God and his people will be brought about. Here Jesus speaks about his hour – a reference to that time when his truest identity and glory will be revealed.

Significantly also, Jesus' mother is present at the wedding. In addressing her as woman, a title he will also use from the cross, Jesus is referring back to another woman, through whom sin first entered the world. Here now, through this woman – Mary, his mother – the healing of that sin will begin in her Son.

For Christians, the cross is the ultimate blessing, as it is the source of eternal life. So the 120-180 gallons of wine is indicative of the inexhaustible riches of God poured out on the faithful believer.

Just as a wedding is a sign of who we are and what we hope for, so the miracle of Cana is a sign of what God offers us if we put our faith and trust in him.

Through the death and resurrection of his Son, God offers us more than we could ever hope. In addition to the gifts of the Spirit as listed by Paul in Corinthians, God offers us the fullness of life and love. It is through faith that the water of our daily lives with all its challenges and achievements can be transformed into something far superior, full bodied and with a deep quality and bouquet. Through faith our lives gain a new depth and meaning if we simply do as Mary says: Do whatever [Jesus] tells you.

THE HEART OF THE MATTER: TIME FOR REFLECTION AND SPIRITUAL GROWTH

1. What makes weddings so special? What makes weddings a difficult time? Why do people want their wedding to be so perfect?
2. Is there any significance in Jesus being at a wedding? What was important about Jesus changing water into wine?
3. If you had been one of the servants how would you have felt about Jesus? The servants did not know they were taking wine to the master, how would you have felt if you were carrying what you thought was water to the master of the banquet? What do you think the servants thought when they heard that the water they brought had miraculously been turned into wine?
4. Why do you think this was Jesus' first miracle? Why is it significant in your life that Jesus turned water into wine?
5. Where do you need to see the hand of Jesus turning the ordinary things of your life into extraordinary things? Have you been looking for "out of this world" miracles, missing the little ways God wants to bless you? Will you choose today to live your life for Jesus so He can work a miracle in you?

THROUGH FAITH OUR LIVES GAIN A NEW DEPTH AND MEANING IF WE SIMPLY DO AS MARY SAYS: DO WHATEVER [JESUS] TELLS YOU.

The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity 2019

Justice and only justice you shall pursue (Deuteronomy 16:18-20)

Rejoice before the Lord your God — you and your sons and your daughters, your male and female slaves, the Levites resident in your towns, as well as the strangers, the orphans, and the widows who are among you — at the place that the Lord your God will choose as a dwelling for his name. Remember that you were a slave in Egypt, and diligently observe these statutes.

You shall keep the festival of booths for seven days, when you have gathered in the produce from your threshing-floor and your wine press. Rejoice during your festival, you and your sons and your daughters, your male and female slaves, as well as the Levites, the strangers, the orphans, and the widows resident in your towns. For seven days you shall keep the festival to the Lord your God at the place that the Lord will choose; for the Lord your God will bless you in all your produce and in all your undertakings, and you shall surely celebrate.

Three times a year all your males shall appear before the Lord your God at the place that he will choose: at the festival of unleavened bread, at the festival of weeks, and at the festival of booths. They shall not appear before the Lord empty-handed; all shall give as they are able, according to the blessing of the Lord your God that he has given you.

You shall appoint judges and officials throughout your tribes, in all your towns that the Lord your God is giving you, and they shall render just decisions for the people. You must not distort justice; you must not show partiality; and you must not accept bribes, for a bribe blinds the eyes of the wise and subverts the cause of those who are in the right. Justice, and only justice, you shall pursue, so that you may live and occupy the land that the Lord your God is giving you.

3 PARENTING styles for Raising Happy, Healthy Children

1. AUTHORITATIVE

"Can I have . . . both?" You respond, "Remember what we talked about before we came inside, sweet pea? You can only have one. How can I help you decide?" She asks again for both. But you hold your ground and shake your head no. She plops herself on the ground and starts yelling, "I want both!" Calmly, you bend down to your crying daughter's eye level. In a firm but friendly tone, you say, "Sweetheart, you have a choice. You can stop crying, put one of the dolls back, and be thankful for the one you're getting. Or we can leave the store right now with nothing. What would you like to do?" She looks at you defiantly. "Both!" "It looks like you are choosing to leave." You take the dolls out of your screaming daughter's hands, pick her up, and calmly walk out of the store. You may or may not give the "kids, amiright?" shoulder shrug to a fellow parent watching sympathetically as you go.

You didn't yell. Instead, you simply had a conversation, and there was no need to threaten her. You set clear expectations at the outset, reminded your daughter of her choice, clearly articulated the consequences for both decisions, let your daughter decide, and then followed through with the consequences. If this sounds like what you would have done, you are an Authoritative Parent.

Parents who adopt this style pair high expectations with understanding and support to foster a healthy parent-child dynamic. This style is all about a "parent first, friend second" philosophy. Kids who grow up with authoritative parents generally become happy, confident, successful adults. Research has consistently demonstrated that they are more likely to be independent, self-reliant, and well-adjusted, and have a higher likelihood of experiencing academic success.

2. CONTROLLING

"Can I have . . . both?" "I said only one." There is an edge to your voice. Your tone warns your daughter: Do not cross the line. "Both!" she screams. "I said no!" You match your daughter's volume and tone. "This is not how we behave! Keep crying and you don't get any desserts for a week!" Your daughter thinks for a moment before planting herself on the ground, continuing her tantrum, yelling, "I want them both!" You rip the dolls out of her hands, pick her up, and walk out of the store. No doll. No desserts. No way!

In this example, you did yell. You set clear expectations at the outset, then demanded obedience by threatening punishment. You did not explain why she could not have the second toy, and then followed through with the punishment. The lack of open communication of the why behind the rules often makes it difficult for the child to make decisions on her own in the future. These are the strategies of the Controlling Parent.

Parents who adopt this style rely on threats and punishment to elicit good behavior. The lack of open communication of the why behind the rules often makes it difficult for the child to make decisions on her own in the future. This tends to stifle independence, risk-taking, and expressiveness. Ultimately, over time, this causes a drop in self-esteem and often leads to resentment in adulthood.

3. PERMISSIVE

"Can I have . . . both?" "I'm sorry sweet pea, but you can only have one. Which one do you want?" "Both!" she screams. "Oh, please don't get upset." You drop to your knees to try to calm her down. "Remember how Mommy said just one?" She clings to the dolls, squeezing them possessively against her chest. "I want them both!" MUST RESIST PUPPY DOG EYES AND LIP POUT . . . Sunday "Just one," you say again. "Both!" She starts yelling louder and louder, and people start to look at her. "Okay, Okay. You can have both. Now, stop crying please!" Your daughter immediately stops crying and leaps into your arms.

You didn't yell. And you didn't threaten punishment or offer consequences for misbehavior. You had set clear expectations at the outset, but then failed to keep those expectations. In the end, you rewarded your daughter's bad behavior. And you established that your expectations are flexible and negotiable. This type of parenting is called Permissive Parenting.

Parents who adopt this style pursue friendship at the expense of respect. Research has shown that permissive parenting can lead to a number of negative outcomes with children often lacking self-discipline, possessing poor social skills, and harboring insecurities due to lack of guidance.

Authoritative parenting has been shown to be the most effective style for producing independent, well-adjusted adults. But it can also be the most difficult style to implement as well. Being an authoritative parent is about going to a place of strength to become a parent dedicated to helping your child live a great life.

MINISTERS OF CARE

Caring for one another...

Our church is a family and we consider our community a part of that family. We strive to care for and encourage those both within and beyond our walls. Our care ministry brings the Holy Eucharist to our people to hospital, nursing homes and family homes. By taking some time to bring the Holy Eucharist we show God's love and we assure our interest in their spiritual life.
